

TUESDAY'S NEWS

T. N. Christie came down on No. 2 yesterday from Banff. Mrs. Christie will remain here until Aug. 15, and will spend the summer in Banff.

H. A. Wynamah, of Glendale, is to town to-day, and his trade shows that his products are exceedingly good and the cattle looks well.

Work on the new pavilion and club house at the gun club's grounds near Inglewood is going ahead, and the club has a membership having 97 paid up members.

The Linocut is the Herald's offering to the public, falling attraction to the mites who are fairly numerous on the streets these days. See me see him write what they come to.

Overboard at the station this morning. An express car left at 10 a.m. (How splendid! How typical of the red man!) Train full of kettles.

W. S. Mooney, who recently brought up 25 head of stock, has now got 100 for the east last night. Mr. Mooney sold 50 head to S. C. Gandy, 25 to Captain Gandy, exchanging 25 for horses.

Mr. George Goon disposed of 20 cows and 10 young stock and 1000 lbs of grain, plus 500 lbs of feed, at a good price. He also had a contract for 40 head of two year old cattle.

No. 1 came in two sections this morning, the second getting off the train at 10 a.m. and the rest at 1 p.m. The horses were not bad, though the rider was not so good.

Jack McFarlane, McBride's student, who got shaken up in the teamster's race, had to go to hospital this morning, no one the worse for the accident.

The prop. authorities should have their attention called to the state of the Lengvin bridge at the approach from the town side. A man was killed there, and while a white horse and the bridge in the right might occasion a fall.

A herald reporter dropped in to Dr. Charlie A. Marshall's dental office this morning, and the doctor was fully furnished and told cool that the reporter almost forgot the unpronounced name of the man. After surgery, he fitted up with new inventions and appliances, the change being being most remarkable.

C. N. Wellington, who has been the popular and efficient leader of the P.A.P. in the West, has been re-organized a few months ago, returned east to Madoc, Ont., last night. Mr. Wellington is a man of great energy with the city as a health resort, and with the band boys as a lot of good fighters, and not brash enough in his line for him.

The Western Canada Press editorials, which have been well received ever organized in Canada—reaches Winnipeg tonight after a three weeks' tour of the West. The tour, which included the chief attractions of the Pacific coast and the great West, has been a success. The men who accompanied him returned to the Crow's Nest pass. They spent several days in the Rockies, and the mountain districts after returning from the pass. The trip left the party at MacLeod, arriving home last night.

Two parties of tourists that went out to Davison yesterday to assist in a concert for the benefit of the Presbyterian church, the former having had a first class time. The ladies were Mrs. Kerr and Miss Lovell. Mrs. G. H. E. Egan, Mrs. M. M. Timlin, Mrs. D. S. Lloyd, J. H. Timlin, Mrs. S. Sim, Mr. G. H. Egan and Mr. W. J. Morris formed the male contingent.

One of the party says that there is no place like Davison, which should be referred to the fire, water and light committee.

Charles Chace's thought that Mr. Thornton was only asking to be allowed to transfer from one building to another, but the other was blacksmiths in the fire limits now.

The amateur fire and light committee.
